The Hargraves' saved by REPO MAN

Jon mows the lawn.

Kayla awaits her Launch Window.

I knew it would be an interesting day from the get go. As we were ready to pull out of Macy's lot, Bob & Raphael Hargrave discovered they had locked keys in their car. They called Triple A for a slim jim. But 3A didn't show, so they flagged down an unmarked tow truck slowly cruising thru the parking lot. Turned out the tough guy driving was a REPO MAN looking for his victim, but saw their situation and decided to be a good samaritan for a moment. He popped the lock in one swift move. No charge. Walter Andersen's '34 wouldn't start. He instructed his 3 young passengers to hop out and push so he could pop the clutch and join the convoy.

As usual Tour Director Jim Thomas was just being helpful when he threw Joey's kite into the wind. But it dive bombed him right in the lip. What about Rick Storr's aborted launch? The kite did a death dive, on its way to a crash landing, wrapping its string around Rick's ankles. Rick was tripped up and sat on the kite. My Kite set a new low altitude record for staying just high enough to trim the grass most of the day. Suzan Valentino had layered a few too many coats of shellack on hers. Weighing in a 60 lbs, the Kite was a better dragger than flyer. Tom Cook brought two beautiful Kites, but no matter how many miles he and Chris ran, they wouldn't launch. Ray Brock showed up with 3 kites in Wrong-Season Christmas wrapping and not only launched them all, he left one stuck in a tree and won the Sweepstakes prize. Dianne Thomas and her friend, Genie, served up the most welcome Ice Cream and toppings. Tom Cook busted for stuffing Helium balloons in his Kite. Jon Dow took home "MOST UGLY BUT IT FLIES." Suzan and Joey V, with the "BUTT UGLYS", ran a close second. Winners pictured on Page twelve.

The Prez Sez.

This has been an unusual month in that our General meeting was held in downtown El Cajon the day after our BOD meeting. The meeting itself was different: it was just opened up for any one to speak about what they wanted a few did but kept it short and the meeting was done in less than 30 minutes. We had plenty of pizza so maybe people were getting sleepy? The Ice Cream Social went very well it with a nice cool breeze and a few kites that actually flew. A big thank you to Ray Brock for his kite donation to the tree gods. For that he received a special gift for his horrific loss. Big thanks to Tour Master Jim Thomas and all the helpers for another terrific Ice Cream Social and creative Ugly Kite Contest. Congratulations to Ken Tibbot and dennis Bailey for their Blue Ribbon wins at El Cajon. Hope to see you all on Sept 19 tour. So kick the tires check the oil and buckle up.

Onward and forward V8er's.

Pennsylvania Bill to Eliminate Ethanol Requirement in Gasoline Approved by Committee; Moves to House Floor

- H.B. 471 recognizes that ethanol fuels cause problems with fuel pumps, fuel gauges, as well as other engine performance issues, especially over a period of time when the vehicle is not used. Current high performance specialty parts along with pre-model year 2001 cars and parts may be most susceptible to corrosion.

- H.B. 471 acknowledges that ethanol has been shown to decrease fuel mileage.
- H.B. 471 recognizes that the life span of vehicles and equipment can be dramatically reduced with the wrong fuel and that owners could be confronted with break downs. Anti-corrosion additives are available for each purchase of gasoline but can become expensive, burdensome and require consumer education.

LEGISLATIVE ALERT

Currently there are 3 bills pending approval that will negatively affect every Californian: SBX1 1 Beall

This bill looks to increase fuel tax; vehicle license & registration fees (VLF); and truck weight fees. The bill originally was numbered SB16 Beall and proposed an increase tax of $.10 per gallon on gas; $.12 per gallon on diesel; a $35.00 per vehicle per year increase in VLF; and an increase to $100.00 license fee on zero emission vehicles (electric cars). SB16 was amended to SBX1 1 and now looks to increase the fuel tax from $.10 on gas to $.12 per gallon and from $.12 on diesel to $.22 per gallon with all other increases remaining the same. California currently has a $6 billion surplus that will approach $10 billion next year... Tell the legislators to use that money to fix the roads.

SB8 Hertzberg

This bill looks to charge tax on services and labor. A good example would be a paint job on your classic car. Paint job costs are a combination of paint & materials and labor. In the past you have paid tax on paint & materials but not on labor. If this bill passes you will pay tax on the labor, i.e. a paint job costing $10,000 would be $2000.00 on paint & materials and $8000.00 labor or an additional cost to you of approximately $600.00 tax.

SB350 De Leon

This bill looks to reduce petroleum use by 50% by 2030. That is only 15 years way and the legislators have no idea on how to reach this lofty goal and propose to let the unelected and unaccountable. California Air Resources Board mandate the regulations to get us there. I can guarantee that there will be fuel rationing and additional fees to fuel and drive not only our daily drivers but our classic as well. Mandates will eventually come down that only emergency type vehicles will get the fuel, i.e. fire; police, medical. This bill will kill jobs and the costs to Californians to administer this type of legislation will be exorbitant. The ACCC opposes the above legislation and encourages all Californians to contact your representative and voice your opposition.

Aug FAN 'Car Spotter' Award goes to Joe Vidali:

“About the postcard picture labeled “Post Cards from the Middle – 1956,
“Ahem, ahem, cough, cough... the cars from left to right are:

- A red 58 Pontiac (the giveaway is the chrome line,)
- A no hubcaps 56 Lincoln Capri (the giveaway is the small side vent window,)
- Behind that is a 1960 Pontiac (the giveaway is the long trunk,)
- Way beyond that is a 1955 Ford wagon (the giveaway is the roof and slant of back glass,)
- Over the back glass of the Lincoln is a 1956 Ford (the giveaway is the taillights,)
- Next to that is a 1952 Cadillac (the giveaway is the trunk hump and the two stainless strips on the back glass,)
- Next to that is a 1956 Pontiac (the giveaway is the chrome line,)
- And next to that is a 1959 Buick (the giveaway are those fins.)
This picture was taken in late 1959 or 1960!

Post Cards from the Middle-1956

The picture on page 8 labeled “Los Angeles, 1958” was actually taken in late 1956, and not February 5, 1958 as claimed. The picture shows a very large sample of cars, lots of 1955 and 1956 cars, but only two are 1957 cars and none are 1958 cars. With such a large sample, this makes no sense. It is late 1956. ---This was fun!!! Joe”

New old Woody in town.

Don Pette has bought this nice, mostly original '36. He's just about convinced himself not to do a restoration - just clean it up and drive it as is - a great original car with some original ( and valuable) patina).

But as of a week later, he has the radiator out, grill off for repairs and etc, etc. I was over when Dennis Bailey dropped by to pick up an old 283 motor, a radiator and other vintage Chevy stuff left over from Don's now sold '57 Chevy Convert. When Den saw what needed to be done on the '36 grill, he said he could fix that and tossed it in his truck as well.

As we were loading the motor, we noticed the flood of coolant coming from Den's' truck--the water pump had sprung a leak. That didn't go over so well with Dennis, but, stuff happens.

Before leaving we checked the progress on Don's fire damaged '32 coupe. Don has had fenders, doors and hood striped and powder coated, the rims painted and new tires mounted. He also tuned up the Model B 4 bangor, but Don has plans to slip a '32 V8 in when Ray Brock finishes the rebuild. --TS

Perfect weather and a bay breeze made for a crowd-friendly event. Lots of old cars, boats, 3 live bands, DJs, vender booths, food trucks, tents, kid rides, free souvenirs and friendly people everywhere. 15 Model As showed, the Chevy low riders had a bunch, but Jim & Diane, Jon Dow, and Sandy & I were the only V8ers. (Jim may have snagged a new member... we'll see next meeting). Considering the beautiful setting and perfect weather, the V8 member turnout was pathetic. This was a great event, entertaining and relaxing. Where were the rest of us?

Pileup, USA, 1940s

Daniel Strohl

Those old cars sure were made of sterner stuff. Heavier steel, you know. Why, I once saw a 50-car pileup in the middle of an intersection downtown. Cars and trucks and buses tossed everywhere like a jumble of toys in a nursery. And you know what? Not a dent or ding on a one of them and they all drove away like nothing happened once they all got untangled. Here, I got a picture to prove it that my buddy Craig Whatley recently sent me. You can see, nobody around back then even looked all that worried, going about their regular business like nothing happened. Boy, those were the days...

---Obviously a bogus shot roughly stitched together, Note :shadows and vehicle proportions not even close. And no lookie lous. Still, it sure gets your attention. -TS

There she is:

It awaits a determined tree climber - a Kite junkie perhaps. With it's proven flight history and low air miles, she's a great candidate for restoration.

Walla Walla, Washington, 1953

Howard Arbiture recently found a handful of excellent carspotting photos from Walla Walla, Washington (one of the most fun place names to say), via the Bygone Walla Walla blog, depicting the Jackson-Teague used car lot at the corner of East Rose and North Colville streets. It seems the group of photos on the blog is made up of shots from different days, judging from the shuffle of cars around the lot, but we can be reasonably certain these two were taken on the same day. What do you see here? Daniel Strohl-Hemmings

Forget the Ferrari—at Concours d’LeMons, People Polish Up the Pintos

A car show where contestants vie to be ‘Worst in Show’ and compete in categories like ‘Most Dangerous’

PLYMOUTH, Mich.—There were sleek Porsche 911s and muscular Ford GTs parked here last month, but many car buffs waltzed right by to see the real star of the auto show: a Pontiac Aztek, a crossover wagon once called the ugliest vehicle ever built. “The best car I’ve ever owned,” Ryan Walch said of his 2004 Aztek. He took home the top prize—

Worst in Show.

“I love it.” The Concours d’LeMons is for those with a love for cars so bad they’re good. Its winners take home prizes with names like “Most Dangerous” and “Biggest Loser.” Vehicle classes range from “The French Legion of Horror,” to “Swedish Meatballs,” and “Needlessly Complex Italian” to “Soul-Sucking Japanese Appliance. Pontiac Aztec. This was the Concours d’LeMons, a car show that bills itself as an exhibit of “the oddball, mundane and truly awful of the automotive world.” Its name is a play on the word for defective cars and a send up of the event it shadows across the country, the Concours d’Elegance, a set of premier classic car shows that showcase Duesenbergs and Porsches, Jaguars and Popes.

Cajon Cruise Nite-Aug 5- v8ers

took over Orange Street facing Main St. The thermometer was pushing 90, but that didn't stop the cruising crowd. Everyone seemed ready to party as the sun went down. Songs from the 50s and 60s echoed along Main Street. Joey V. trucked in 13 pizzas, 4 big coolers of water and soft drinks, a serving table and boxes of brownies. We organized our chairs in the shady arcade of a tall building which became our eating and conversation pit with a front row seat to the passing parade of old cars. After pizza, our General Meeting was called in the quiet side walkway.

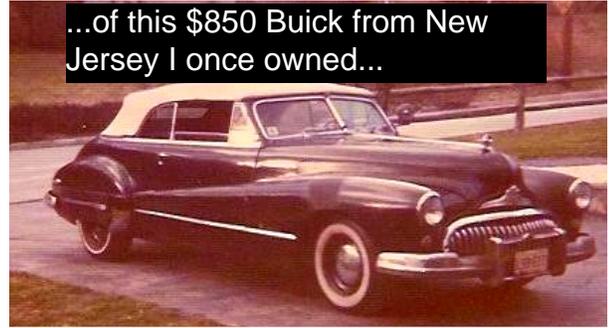

When the meeting broke up, members wandered out among the cars and found the judges had been through, awarding Best of Show ribbons to Ken Tibbot's, '41 Lincoln continental and Dennis Bailey, who much to his dismay, found the ribbon on the windshield of his '35 Tudor Flatback. Our favorite curmudgeon has no need for these meaningless award ribbons and won't be waiting around for the awards ceremony -- too much bother. But the rest of us were proud that he won for a beautiful restoration he completed decades ago that still remains fresh enough to command a first prize. Joe Vidali was busted for a 'Hand Forged' V8 Name Tag. He just flashed an innocent smile...what?..

Ice Cream all around at Baskin Robbins on the way home. Great way to spend a summer evening. --TS

1948 Buick $75,000

This ad reminded me...

...of this $850 Buick from New Jersey I once owned...

...that I traded for this Ford from Boston that I drove to Hershey and sold so I could buy...

...this Model Sport Coupe that I drove back to New York and traded for...

...this '39 Buick, that I sold to a guy who flew in from South Carolina...and so on and so on... --TS

Scottsdale, Arizona, 1950s

Somewhere in Scottsdale’s Old Town, according to the Phoenix, Arizona, Historical Images, a lone Cadillac hunts for its prey: the elusive parking spot. But not just any old parking spot will do; rather, the Cadillac searches only for the healthiest, the largest, parking spots, the ones reclining under the scant shade in the desert lands that the Cadillac prowls. Some say that the Cadillac will circle – slowly, deliberately – for hours on end, maybe even days, until the right parking spot presents itself; then it will pounce, relishing its catch and chasing off lesser cars.
What do you see here? ---Daniel Strohl

With old albums comes history

With modern computers and electronic files, fewer and fewer people are saving their own family history. Old fashioned albums take up time and space. But, it’s those albums that yield the most interesting details of our lives - the fashions, hairstyles, locations and even weather - moments that can never be recaptured. An automobile that otherwise might be forgotten is often the clue to identifying time, place and family members in the old photos.

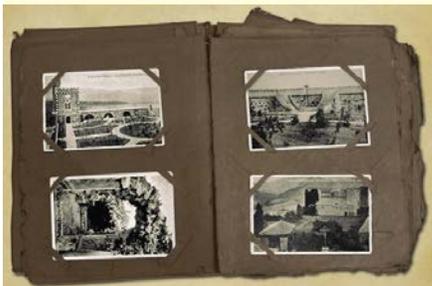

I remember my own 92 year old grandmother handing over her albums to me. She couldn’t remember what she had for lunch, but she could ID every photo from 60, 70, 80 years ago - not only who was pictured, but the house on Fern Street and the Studebaker touring car at the curb.

One shot of my then 10 year old father on his new Whizzer bike sparked the memory of him falling off the thing right after the photo was taken.

I don’t really trust the electronic “Cloud” to keep those files safe and then pass them on to our children when we are no longer around. Not many people take the time to chronicle the day to day stuff -- vacations, weekends, new cars, etc-- oh they take more pictures than ever and share them on facebook, twitter, etc. But saving them in a physical album is a lost art and our lost collective history. --TS

*Woman Of The Month:
Suzan Symonds*

I am a native San Diegan, second generation Chinese American. My family, parents and older siblings lived in downtown where all the early Chinese immigrants had settled near Island and J Street, I believe at that time they had considered that area the 'Red Light District' .... Waaay before my time ☹. I am, as they say a product of suburbia. My parents moved out of downtown to purchase a home in what is now called Fairmount Park and at that time was called Mary Lou Park in 1959. They settled in with 3 kids, my 2 older sisters and brother. SURPRISE!!! I showed up 3 years later. No, this is not a math test.

I am a product of San Diego Public school system. I attended Rowan Elementary in my formative years. Then on to Wilson Jr. High School and the new concept of Co-Ed Physical Education classes. Yuk, what a thing a pre-teen had to endure. I always ended up with a Male Coach... could it be because my last name was Tom? I attended Herbert Hoover High. Looking back it was during an interesting time, face it, I was a nerd, I made Honor Roll. High school was also the right of passage to DRIVE! Although my mother let me get my learners permit at 15 ½ and take instruction at school, I could only drive when she was in the family car, a big red 1966 Dodge 440 Coronet station wagon with power steering and brakes. The brakes were so sensitive I would literally throw myself into the steering wheel ... I would say "Mom I can't handle this one". Little did she know my older sister let me drive her 1969 Firebird in the College Grove parking lot. It was awesome. My brother, now a full fledged Officer of the Law put the finishing touches on my driving skills. Could you tell at K-1? I think there was some improper tire inflation causing my 2 spinouts.

I attended SDSU and am proud to say, I got out of "the institution" in 4 years with a BA in Applied Arts and Sciences. I am thankful to my family that went to school before me and knew how to plan out 4 years of classes. Like many folks my degree and my career field are in opposite directions. I started working at North Island as a civilian for Commander Naval Air Forces Pacific in their IT (computer) department where I met Bob. He was our air conditioning mechanic; he kept us cool at all times! Bob had asked a couple of us girls out on his sailboat and I was the only one that showed up and we have been together ever since. I currently work for HP Enterprise Services.

My 5 minutes of fame came early in life, I was about 1 or 2 years old, my mother had carried me into Walker Scott Department store in College Grove Shopping Center, I was half her size, she was a petite 5'. My mother asked the salesman if she could put me down on a mattress while she shopped around, and he said of course. I must have appeared to very comfortable because he asked her if he could take my picture to use in an advertisement for their mattresses. My mother approved (see photo).

I really enjoy the Early Ford V8 club, as I have always been a car enthusiast. Problem is, so is Bob, and we haven't a spare place to park in the driveway, garage or street! Sound familiar?

Suzan, Joey and Jon on the UGLY Winners platform. Kite Master Ray (3 built, 3 flown) & Judy Share the BIG award.
 (Not clear if Judy will share the wine)
 Rare Sightings: Aloha! Barbara Martin back in town. Rick and Sheryl finally finish moving into new house and are allowed to play outside again. But the big news: we all found parking-on a sunny Saturday.
 That's planning ahead!
